SUBJECT: Airline Operation in Europe

1. The following information is forwarded regarding the possibilities of using ☐ Airlines for special operations into Greece:

A. It is possible to transport six men from Germany to Greece, non-stop, at a cost of $6,500. DC-3
This same flight can be accomplished if one gas stop is permitted at a cost of $3,600. If the passengers do not leave the plane there are no 46 restrictions on landing in foreign countries.

B. If needed it will be possible to charter a plane from time to time for men or supplies or both. No price has been established for an operation of this kind.

C. At this time all European crews of ☐ are being security cleared and it will be possible, if the need arises, to charter a plane and crew for as long as desired.
